Antiques to benefit TCOM

Looking for something to set on your coffee table? How about a 14" high old Chinese ivory sculpture of an aged man going home from market with a fish in his basket? Tied to his staff is a sacred fugus, symbol of longevity, and the fish he carries is, of course, symbolic of fertility. Or there's a Tiffany Favrile glass dressing table lamp, 16" high with a green and gold feather pull-up design and a bronze finial. Both the base and the shade are signed. These and a host of other items will be available, priced anywhere from $50 up, at the Fort Worth Antique Show and Sale November 11-12-13 at the Roundup Inn.

If you haven't bought your ticket yet, remember they cost only $1.50 each and are available in the Public Information Office from Carol Keller. Proceeds of all pre-show ticket sales go to benefit a scholarship fund at TCOM, so it is important that you buy your ticket early. If you buy at the door, the profit goes to the antique organization presenting the show tion presenting the show.

Tickets are also available from any

Tickets are also available from any member of the Auxiliary to District II, Texas Osteopathic Medical Association. This is the first major event undertaken by the auxiliary specifically on behalf of the college, though they have donated two $500 scholarships from proceeds from their annual Scholarship Ball. Auxiliary members need our cooperation to insure the success of this big project.

Regents meeting today

The Board of Regents of North Texas State University meets today, October 28, at 9 a.m. in the Board Room of the NTSU Administration Building.

Blood Drive termed success

An "overwhelming success" is the designation given the 1977 annual Fort Worth Osteopathic Hospital-TCOM Blood Donor Day Oct. 11. A total of 242 persons were screened with 205 pints of blood donated. Last year 244 persons were screened and 177 pints drawn. Twenty-eight TCOM personnel donated blood and had it credited to the college with five others donating and having it credited to the FWOH Office of Medical Education. Of the 28 pints donated, the Atlas Club donated 10.

One of the many prizes awarded to blood donors went to third-year student and Atlas Club member George Kouns who received $25 cash. The cash prize was provided by the TCOM Office of Alumni Affairs.

Dr. Powell joins faculty

Dr. Vanna M. Powell, has joined the TCOM faculty effective Oct. 1 as an assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology. A 1972 graduate of the Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine, she interned at Kirksville Osteopathic Hospital and did her residency training at Parkview Hospital in Philadelphia. She is a member of the American Osteopathic Association, the Pennsylvania Osteopathic Medical Association and the American College of Osteopathic Obstetricians and Gynecologists. A native of Idaho Springs, Colo., Dr. Powell is the mother of a six-year-old daughter.

Journal Club organized

One of the problems facing practicing physicians and medical students alike is keeping current with the vast amount of medical literature published monthly. Recognizing this need, TCOM students have formed a journal club where participants can share knowledge of recent journal articles.

The club meets every Tuesday at noon in the Administration Building, and meetings are open to anyone. Faculty are are especially invited to attend. The sole requirement for membership is that each member must make one presentation to the group at large at least once a year. Such presentations may be on either journal articles or current clinical medical topics. At present there are 14 members in the club, and new members from the sophomore class will be inducted soon.

Chairman of the group for October is third-year student John Wilkinson.
The chairmanship rotates monthly. Dr. C.R. Olson, chairman of the Department of Medicine, and Dr. J.W. Anderson, associate dean for medical education.

serve as advisors.
