

12-1-1997

Texas D.O. Volume 54, Number 11

Texas Osteopathic Medical Association

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.hsc.unt.edu/topjournal>

 Part of the Osteopathic Medicine and Osteopathy Commons

Recommended Citation

Texas Osteopathic Medical Association, "Texas D.O. Volume 54, Number 11" (1997). Texas Osteopathic Physicians Journal. Paper 706.
<http://digitalcommons.hsc.unt.edu/topjournal/706>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Special Collections at UNTHSC Scholarly Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Texas Osteopathic Physicians Journal by an authorized administrator of UNTHSC Scholarly Repository. For more information, please contact Tom.Lyons@unthsc.edu.

TEXAS D.O.

The Journal of the Texas Osteopathic Medical Association

1998

Membership Directory

Texas Osteopathic Medical Association

You Can.

Instead of having to file claims directly with every insurance carrier, you can file most of them electronically through the Texas Health Information Network.SM

Paperwork is reduced, administrative efficiency is increased and reimbursements will arrive sooner. Not only will your office benefit, your patients will benefit from a faster approval process for treatment decisions and referrals. Administered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas, Inc., this service is provided to you at no charge.

Because we work with most office automation vendors, getting your system on-line has never been easier. So far, more than 18,000 medical practices and clinics have connected to the Texas Health Information Network. Have you? If not, find out more by calling our Network Helpline at (972) 766-5480.

What if I could make things run more efficiently?

BlueCross BlueShield of Texas*